DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. The rejection of Claims 1-5 under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement, is withdrawn because of the amendments filed 5/8 and 5/13/2008.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. The rejection of Claims 1-5 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, is withdrawn because of the amendments filed 5/8 and 5/13/2008

4. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a) claim 14, line 2: "high" is not defined and is therefore vague and indefinite.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-4 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3 of copending Application No.

10/522705. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claimed subject matter of each application overlaps with the other.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

This rejection is maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 1-5 and 11-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Budden et al (6354620) taken in view of EP 552983.

'620 teaches making an architectural fabric (9:19-24) by coating a polyester or other fabric (8:55-59), by spraying or padding, etc (8:44-54) with a flexible siloxane coating (see Abstract).

'620 fails to teach all of the components of the claimed siloxane composition.

'983 teaches a siloxane coating for airbags that comprises a siloxane with at least two alkenyl groups, a siloxane with at least three hydrogen atoms, a catalyst such as Pt, a reaction retarder (i.e. crosslink inhibitor), surfactants, adhesion aids such as amino-functional silanes

(which would be inclusive of the silane of claim 15), PVA and water (3:25-5:6). The composition crosslinks at RT or with elevated T (5:1-6). '620 does not teach the wt% of PVA or other adhesion promoter, but it would have been obvious to optimize the adhesion promoter because such components are known to be results-effective variables.

It would have been obvious to use the siloxane composition of '983 in the '620 architectural fabric process because of the teaching of '983 that their composition has strong adhesion and is mechanically strong (See Abstract, 2:20).

Response to Arguments

The applicant has argued that their adhesion promoter is important to their claimed invention. It is the examiner's position that '983 teaches the use of PVA in their composition (4:54-55; see Example and Comparative Example) and that the adhesion promotion is inherent to the PVA of the '983 composition, even if '983 fails to describe the PVA as an adhesion promoter. PVA is one of the adhesion promoters used by applicant (see pages 12-14 of the specification).

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
